

BMT Tax Depreciation
QUANTITY SURVEYORS

Maximise the cash return

on residential and commercial property

Depreciate and save

Property depreciation is the wear and tear of buildings and assets within a property over time. The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) allows the owners of income-producing properties to claim this depreciation as a tax deduction.

A depreciation schedule is required to maximise depreciation deductions and to substantiate these claims in a tax return. Quantity surveyors are one of the only professionals recognised by the ATO with the necessary skills to estimate construction costs for depreciation purposes.

BMT specialise in providing comprehensive, ATO compliant depreciation schedules. Our team provides a specialised service including:

- a forty year schedule to last the life of the property
- a site inspection by a BMT depreciation specialist
- multiple methods of depreciation
- split reports for multiple owners.

We work with your accountant to ensure the process is worthwhile.

Each schedule is protected by the BMT Guarantee - if we can't find double our fee in deductions in the first full financial year there will be no charge for our services.

Residential investment properties

As the owner of a residential investment property, claiming maximum depreciation deductions will increase your cash flow. Tax depreciation is most often missed as you don't need to spend any money on your property to claim these deductions each financial year.

Residential properties, both new and old, have depreciation available. We find residential property investors an average of almost $10,000 in first full financial year deductions.

Here are examples of typical deductions we've found on both new and second-hand properties:

BMT deduction assessment
	Purchase price	Year 1 depreciation	Year 1 - 5 cumulative depreciation	Average annual cash return*
New unit	$560,000	$13,856	$58,824	$4,353
Second hand unit (2005)	$548,000	$4,655	$23,275	$1,722
New 3BR house	$649,000	$12,795	$53,502	$3,959
Second hand 3BR house (2005)	$627,500	$6,992	$34,960	$2,587

We still find owners every day missing out on this lucrative deduction. Our expertise spans businesses of all sizes, across all industries including farms, hospitals, industrial, retail, offices and more.
